Why...

...are statistics important?

Because they...

...are key instruments to quantify, qualify & measure.

...are used to evaluate many aspects of reality (political, legal, societal, or cultural).

...not only measure, but create reality & impact on behaviour.

With their impact indicators and statistics...

...support the understanding and assessment of complex processes, structures and situations.

...facilitate measurement and evaluation of different aspects like poverty, human well-being, corruption, state performance.

...have potential to change paradigms, ideas, and perhaps also the relationship between political actors.

Most prominent examples are indices like...

- ...Millennium (Sustainable) Development Goals
- ...World Governance Indicators
- ...Corruption Perception Index
- ...World Bank Doing Business Indicators

...but also single indicators like...

- ...GDP
- ...Life expectancy
- ...Child mortality
- ...Literacy rates

So, in the end statistical data...

...increase insight & knowledge,

...support policy-making & evaluation,

...inform monitoring & measurement of progress,

...are independent sources of information.

...and are the ultimate basis for...

AWARENESS
&
EMPOWERMENT
KNOWLEDGE

Why GLOBALSTAT ...

...The new Database on
Developments in a
Globalised World?

Because...

...statistics only slowly become more visible in public domain.

...these independent information sources deserves promotion.

...clarity & speed of data access needs to be improved.

These demands are important as...

...information sources mushroom at a hardly traceable speed.

...areas, issues & processes affecting individuals amplify.

...globalisation goes beyond global economic interrelations.
