

The Global Governance Programme (GGP) focuses on research and promotes stakeholders' dialogues on policies of global economics, trade, investment and development, regional and international security, international relations, and governance by and of knowledge.

Erik Jones
Director

"The ongoing pandemic, Russia's war in Ukraine, the rise in energy and food prices, the tensions between the US and China...Our research is what helps us understand why the world has become such a dangerous and disorderly place, and what we should do about it."

RESEARCH

The GGP focuses on broad interdisciplinary themes and cross-cutting issues related to globalisation
